Each student's score will be divided by the highest score within the team to determine the percentage peer evaluation score. That percentage will then become a factor to determine your project grade. As a result, if the overall group receives, say, 175 points on a 200-point project, and you receive an 86% peer evaluation, your credit for the group work will be 86% of 175 points, or 151 points.
